

These festivals were possible because of the Armed Forces of Ukraine.

Glory to heroes and heroines!

Svitanok

2022

Svitanok — dawn in Ukrainian.

Nomadic festival that brings progressive Ukrainian culture and connects it with local cultural institutions and artists. At least one performance is always created for the festival, where Ukrainian and local artists are commissioned to improvise or prepare a project in advance. With such a programming approach, we strive to promote Ukrainian culture and create a sustainable connection between artists and institutions of the two countries.

We hope the festival will help discover a progressive Ukrainian culture, new names, and aesthetics, not marginalized to folklore. That our voice will become louder and the story clear for foreigners. And for those, who happen to be temporarily displaced, it will provide relief by giving a message from home and hope that the darkest time is before the dawn.

San Jose Winter Fest: Counterpoint with Ukraine

February 16 — March 4, San Jose, CA, US

Collaboration of Am I Jazz? festival and San Jose Jazz on a multidisciplinary program focusing on the interdependency and celebration of cultures and experiences.

The program includes new works and brand-new collaborations between Ukrainian and American artists; 'Magura,' a dance performance by Alina Sokulska; Ukrainian film program; and an exhibition of Lesia Khomenko's "Undefined Figures."

Through music, art, dance, and film, we display sacred practices of ancient culture, intimate and fragile instants, love, dreams, aspirations — pieces of our life worth fighting for. Men in pixel uniforms—the Armed Forces of Ukraine—protecting these and making it possible to create the festival.
